1 Brageson won eight races last year and climbed quickly through the classes. He prefers to run in front over the short distance, and this number is perfect. 4 Hauk Viktor made a move with 700 meters to go last time and won convincingly. With driver Björn Goop now up, he is a contender. 7 Fjasko showed his great capacity last time as he finished second in record time. Looking for new heights and a good option behind the favorite. 3 Haga Modde is up and down, but at his best, he has the speed to compete in this class. He likes the short distance. Outsider.

3 T.C.Mikita has been fast and uncomplicated, and led all the way two starts back. Was also good from the front last time but got defeated by a strong rival. 7 Big Success is a hot contender with two improved performances recently. Has been ill after the last start though and the form is a question mark. 13 From a Box has raced better after a pause and was brave after a tough journey in the last run. Possible despite a difficult starting position. 4 Adele Gel may benefit from her starting position and follow our favorite. She has shown promising form.

7 Global Crusader scored several impressive wins last year and is the kind of horse that will be competing in the V75 in the future. Seasonal debut now and should have top chance. 2 Florence Ima has been unlucky and got locked in on several occasions. Looks good and is better than recent results suggest. 1 Kontur usually performs well when in the lead. Has finally got a good starting position and the distance is the right one. 8 Mellby Galanga has been more consistent lately, which has led to success. Early contender in this race.

8 Ektara hasn't won yet but has been on the podium in seven out of 14 races. She has the right attitude and faces suitable opposition to achieve her first win today. 6 Be Sober showed some speed last year and the four-year-old now comes from a debut that promises more. On the way up and will challenge the favorite. 4 One for the Money is fast and interesting with this number behind the gate. Jomar Blekkan is an advantage too. 2 Mayfly Sock looked good last time and with shorter intervals between races now, we believe in even more improvement. Fast.
