14 A Fair Day has taken two easy victories this year. If things work out as well from the handicap start as last time, there is a good chance of winning again. 4 Otto Sotto can certainly do better than what he has shown so far. Now he has two races under his belt - if he can handle the starting position, he could be a contender. 9 Star Cash is consistent and good. He was pressed in the lead during the final lap last time, but was brave. 11 Notorious Zon was supposed to make his seasonal debut a week ago, but was a non-starter. He had energy left in a Derby elimination heat last year.

10 Luxury River last raced in an attempt to qualify for the Drottningens Pokal (Joviality won). The competition here is easier - our top pick. 12 So Much a Lady comes also from an elimination heat to Drottningens Pokal. Tricky number eight with this handicap, but she is an early contender with some racing luck. 5 Jelly Bean Mearas managed to win her first race last time after finding an opening on the home stretch. She's a contender with the right journey. 9 Bold Face finished strongly to victory two races ago. Should not be overlooked.

4 King of Djazz won his seasonal debut two races ago in impressive fashion. He was decent in a V75 race last time, and here he faces nice conditions. 7 Prosecco makes an interesting comeback. He earned good money as a five-year-old two seasons ago, and he has the capacity to compete well - we want to include him. 5 Without a Doubt can do better than what he has shown lately, but his form is just okay, and primarily he's a contender for a place. 2 Braddock has a good starting position, but his form is a question mark. Possible if improved again.
